- The IIA's Global Model Internal Audit Curriculum

- Scholarships for undergraduate, graduate, and doctoral students

- Webinars conducted by industry expert

- Educator resources including risk assessment tools, IIA-branded materials, case studies and solutions, and more

Academic Programs

To support the student pipeline and help fulfill the need for internal audit graduates ready to enter the workforce, The IIA endorses accredited colleges and universities that meet specific criteria and contribute significantly to the advancement of internal audit education. Recognition not only highlights your institution's commitment to excellence in internal audit curriculum, but also enhances the program's reputation as a leader in preparing future internal audit practitioners.

Internal Audit Awareness Program:

The Internal Audit Awareness Program (IAAP) recognizes universities teaching internal auditing as a standalone internal audit course or operational auditing. Internal Auditing Education Partnership:

The Internal Auditing Education Partnership (IAEP) Program endorses universities teaching two core courses or more of internal audit curriculum within a degree program (one of the two must be Principles of Internal Auditing). Additional details and eligibility can be found on the IAEP Program Guidelines and Operating Framework. Please reference The IIA's Global Model Internal Audit Curriculum.
