

Pamela J. Stroebe Powers – CIA, CGAP, CRMA, CPA
Institute of Internal Auditors
Director - Professional Guidance, Public Sector

Pamela began work with the Institute of Internal Auditors in April 2021 and appreciates the opportunity to collaborate, liaison with, advocate for and provide guidance and thought leadership to public sector auditors around the globe.

Pam came to the IIA with 22 years of experience as an internal auditor in Oregon State Government. Over that time, Pam worked for five agencies; she served as the Chief Audit Executive for four of those, established the first in-house internal audit activity in two of them, and in one position coordinated the State's internal audit activities. Pamela also founded Powers CPA, LLC which provided internal audit, consulting and assurance services to government and non-profit entities for five years. Pam began her career as an external auditor with the Audits Division of the Secretary of State.

In addition to her audit roles, Pam has served as a contributing faculty member at Willamette University's Atkinson Graduate School of Management since 2010. Over the course of her career she has provided training on various topics including ethics, risk management, and auditing to agency staff, management and various professional organizations. She has also served as a course facilitator for the IIA, providing training for audit professionals globally. Pam has been an active member of the IIA, having held various leadership and committee positions. Pam earned a Bachelor's degree in Accounting from Western Baptist College and an MBA from Willamette University.
